seems to be the motto of the street just at present and the feeling as violently bullish as it was bearish a short time ago. This is not surprising, as stock speculators never do anything by halves; they very often, how-

brokers. He said:
"The bears have been completely routed and Bateman, Cammack and the rest have been on the dead run since yesterday and haven't stopped yet. I told my customers," he continued, "on Oct. 19, that they should buy all they could as stocks would boom for the next six months, as I believe they will."

Other brokers held similar views and were telegraphing to their out-of-town customers egraphing to their out-of-town customers

Other brokers held similar views and were telegraphing to their out-of-town customers to buy on the reactions and sell on the bulges. As a general thing they recommend the purchases of such shares as have not risen much as yet, and the low-priced ones are also favorites. Already big money has been made in Hocking Coal, Erie, Tennessee & Colorado Coal and Norfolk & Western. This morning Wheeling & Lake Erie began to move up lively, and it soon crossed 48.

The greatest disappointment to the bears was St. Paul. This has been their stronghold, and when it moved up in spite of all efforts to keep it down demoralization spread through their ranks. It opened % higher at 76 and crept up steadily until it sold a fraction above 77. London took a considerable amount, and this made it easy for the bulls here. Up to noon 31,500 shares of this stock had changed hands. About the same amount of Western Union was dealt in, and this stock finally took a start, much to the satisfaction of the people who have been lugging it along for weeks and months. The bulls say it is now on its way to 90, and that, all rumors to the contrary notwithstanding, Gould has made arrangements to have it listed at the London Stock Exchange. The stock sold up to 81 at 1 o'clock and the shorts were severely handled.

Our table of fluctuations will show at a glance how general was the improvement to day.

To those contemplating purchases it may be as well to say that after the recent sharp rise a reaction may occur at any time. The short interest has been materially reduced, and when this is the case it is always at the same transfer. en this is the case it is always the policy of the bulls to change their tactics for a time and then take a fresh hold.

Tipe From "The Evening World's" Ticker For the first time in over a year Western Union climbed up to 80 and above.

Despite the advancing market Mr. Bateman con-nues to be a bear. He looks for trouble among te railroads. The temper of the boom was decidedly bullish from the opening, with Western Union and St. Paul its special features.

The Missouri Pacific Railroad Company has de-died to put on a fast train instead of cutting rates o compete with the Union Pacific.

The listing of Western Union in the London Stock Exchange helped the boom. Transfers of stock will be made by Baring Bros. & Co. i Stock Exchange memberships, which sold lately for $20,000, were said to be worth $22,000 each to-day, and seats in the Consolidated Exchange were reported to have advanced between $500 and $1,000.

Many thought that one reason for the booming market was the probable shutting down of the bucket-shops on account of the decision in the Todd case, which would throw loads of business falls the exchanges.

The bucket-shops did not close up to-day, but were apparently doing a rusning business. Tood's big affair included, as well as other large establish-ments on New street and Broadway. The pro-prietors said, however, that they were only closing butstanding contracts.

Wolf Aldermen Turn Up Again.

The Wolf Board of Aldermen turned up again to day. It started years ago with the claim that all day. It started years ago with the claim that all other Boaros of Aldermen were unconstitutional and has kept up the claim ever since. This time it wants to count the city vote. To-day the Board obtained from Judge Barrett an order requiring the Mayor, Aldermen and Commonaity and County Clerk to show cause on Nov. 21 why a peremptory mandamus should not issue requiring the respondents to recognize the relators as the Common Council. COUNTING THE CITY VOTE.

The Board of County Canvassers Makes Good Start at Its Work To-Day.

President Henry R. Beekman, with a scarlet geranium in his button-hole, sat in the Council Chamber for half an hour after 11 o'clock this morning before enough Aldermen came in to form a quorum of the Board of County Canvassers. County Clerk Flack acted as clerk, assisted by Deputy Thomas F. Gilroy.

The canvassing of the votes cast at the recent election began to-day with the Fifth District. In the returns of the Fifteenth Election District the figures for Surrogate and Judges of the City Court were found to be badly mixed up. The returns were referred to a committee and the inspectors were sent for to explain matters.

The reading went on smoothly and rather monotonously until the Sixth Assembly District was reached, when things livened up a little. The Sixth is the second of the three Assembly districts convector the Fifth assembly districts composing the Fifth Judicial District, where a hot fight was waged between Henry M. Goldfogle, County Democracy, and the sitting Justice John H. McCarthy. Tammany. The police returns give Goldfogle a plurality of 297 over McCarthy in a total vote of 24,960. The canvass of the voters of the Fourth Assembly District confirmed the police returns unchanged, and of the voters of the Fourth Assembly District confirmed the police returns unchanged, and so far no errors have been found in the Sixth District returns. Lawyer Charles L. Cohn is in attendance to look after Mr. Goldfogle's interests, and ex-Alderman Ryan scrutinizes the returns on behalf of Judge McCarthy. The Board expects to get as far as the Twelfth District before adjourning this even-ing. The canvass will be completed on Friday.

DESPERATE FROM POVERTY.

AN ATTEMPT TO COMMIT SUICIDE BY A LEAP FROM THE BRIDGE.

Henry Galway Arrested White Climbing Over the Treatle-Work-Out of Work, Penniless, and His Wife and Six Little Children at Home Starving-Bridge Police Investigate the Story and Find it True.

Roundsman Wiggins, of the Brooklyn Bridge Police, saw a man attempting to climb over the trestlework on the south roadway of the big structure, on the New York side, near the land span, at 9 o'clock this morning. The man was very respectably dressed in dark clothes by no means shabby. He wore a Derby hat, and seemed extremely excited and nervous. Roundsman Wiggins was after him in an instant and caught him before he was well over the trestlework. The man did not look at all surprised when he saw that his object was not to be attained. He looked at the roundsman and said wearily "I wanted to end my life. I am sick and disgusted with it. I haven't had a thing to eat for four days, and I can't get any employment, try as I may."

Roundsman Wiggins reserved his sympathy for a later period. In the mean time he escorted the man to the Brooklyn Bridge police station, where the prisoner described himself as Henry Galway, formerly a bartender, and now living at 322 Henry street, this city. Galway was broken down when he told Sergt. Phillips that he had a wife and six children who were literally starving. They had been expecting that he would obtain employment this week, but he had been unsuccessful in his search or work.

Galway was searched, and this letter was ound in his pocket, with a pair of scissors:

My DRAR Wife:

I hope you will forgive me and pray for me. I condin't stand it any longer to see you and my children starving. Your poor but unfortunate HENRY GALWAY.

So strongly were the police affected by the man's tale that Sergt. Phillips declared that he would set out and investigate the truth of the story, though he had no doubt as to its veracity. A subscription was taken up, and the Sergeant set out with the money for No. 322 Henry street. 322 Henry street.

The man's story proved to be only too correct, It was not exaggerated. In the wretched house Mrs. Galway and her children were in reality starving. The woman was as despondent as her husband. She didn't know what they were going to do. They were to be dispossessed to-day, and where on earth they could go was something she could not imagine.

earth they could go was something she could not imagine.

The children ranged in age from ten years to eight months, and that they were hungry was too evident. JOHN JOHNSTON'S WILL.

His Brother and Heir Making Denials Under Cross-Examination.

There was another hearing in the contest over the will of the late John Johnston, the millionaire dry-goods merchant, before Surrogate Rollins to-day. Michael Bowler, a plasterer, testified for the contestants that Mr. Johnston was a very peculiar man. Once the deceased stopped him in the middle of a job and sent him to work elsewhere.

Robert Johnston, the legatee under his brother's will and its proponent, was called. He related the history of the establishment, and said that he was at first receiving a salary of $2,500 a year and 1-12 of the profits, which averaged $5,000. When his brother Charles died his share of the business was left to his brother, the testator, and the witness was then allowed $2,500 a year as general manoner's Jury.

Coroner Eidman finished to-day the investigation into the cases of death caused by the collapse of Father Kirner's school-house, in One Hundred and Fifteenth street, on Oct. 17. William J. Martin, who was the Inspector in the district where the building was being erected, testified to his belief that the regulaerected, testified to his belief that the regula-tions were not being followed in the build-ing's erection, but that he expected that when the new plans suggested by Father Kirner were presented to have the height of the structure increased, those violations would be remedied. He had confidence in Father Kirner to that extent. He made out a complaint embodying his ideas in regard to the building, but neglected to turn it into the office, as he thought, with the additional work that would thought, with the additional work that would be unnecessary. The complaint was made out as a matter of form. Father A. Monsella, connected with the One Hundred and Fifteenth Street Church. gave unimportant testimony. Thoma Durgin, a bricklayer, and who is brother of the Durgin who wa killed at the time of the collapse, declared that there were no braces used except a brick or two here and there.

This testimony finished the case. Coroner Eidman then gave the case to the jury.

GOING TO WASHINGTON AND CRAZY.

A Dangerous Man Who Announces His Intention of Calling on the President.

Mrs. Von Bodenstein called at Police Headquarters this morning and asked assist ance to find her husband, William, who is insane and who, she thinks, is likely to do violence unless he is captured. He has been three times an inmate of Ward's Island Insane Asylum, and when intoxicated is very

Last Sunday morning Mrs. Von Bodenstein, who lives at 240 East One Hundred and Twenty-fourth street, received this postal DEAWANNIE: I am now on the road to see Fresident Cleveland to bring the Stars and Stripes on my breast home to you. If that is not satisfactory I will go to Europe and dine with Emperor William of Germany, which I will be highly respected if I do go there. With kindest regards to children and family, God bless you.

WM. Von BODENSTEIN.

It is believed by Mrs. Von Bodenstein that the man has actually gone to Washington and that he may have designs upon the Presi-dent. She is also warmed lest when he re-turns he may kill her. He is a carpenter and stair builder. The police will search for the GLASS BEVELLERS MAY STRIKE.

All the Firms But Two Willing to Grant the Demands of Their Men. Unless the demands of several hundred glass bevellers are acceded to this afternoon there is likely to be a general strike. Seventy-five men employed by Heroy & Marriner and Semon, Bache & Co. are already out. There are a dozen firms in the business and all but the two above named are willing and all but the two above named are willing to grant an advance of $1 per week. The hands are divided into roughers and smoothers, and they earn at piece work from $10 to $17 a week. Heroy & Marriner want their hands to do from 500 to 1,000 inches more per week than the men in other establishments are required to do for the same pay, and Semon, Bache & Co. are willing to pay their smoothers the increase demanded, but refuse to give it to the roughers, of whom they require 500 inches more per week than other shops.

The men are all organized as Knights of Labor.

Suggestions to the Park Board. The members of the Park Board held their regular weekly meeting this morning. Board heard the complaint of Dwight H. Olmstead about the dangerous condition of Morningside Drive. Holes are being dug Morningside Drive. Holes are being dug for posts of a railing intended to guard the parapet, and there is dainger of people failing into them after dark. Horses are also lable to take fright and run away and, as there is nothing to prevent them from jumping off the parapet, Mr. Olinstead suggested that the drive be closed until better arrangements for safety are completed. The Board promised to take the matter into consideration. A position signed by T. H. Frait was presented asking that a bridge be built across the Broax kiver at West Farms. It was adopted by the Board and filed.

To Be Tried for Conspiracy John E. Gill, John Foster, James McDonald and John Campbell, members intended leaving the property to him.

The witness was asked if any of his brothers had died of drink or any of his family in the Court of General Sessions for alleged conspiracy in causing the discharge of Foreman Odor M. Harti from the employ of Gardi-iner & Estes' shoe manufactory. The papers in the case are being prepared in the District-Attorney's office.

The case of Gill and others for false imprisonment has been appealed to the Supreme Court General Term, and in the event of a refusal of that Iribunal to a new trial the Court of Appeals will be resorted to. Lawyer Louis F. Post appears for the Knights.

All the Creditors Friendly.

@ The affairs of A. S. Hatch & Co. are in pretty much the same condition as yesterday, save for the fact that Assignce Chittenden has nearly unravelled the tangle and may be able to make some definite statement to-morrow. There is no trouble to con-tend with from the creditors, who are all on friendly terms with Mr. Hatch and are of the belief that his assets will cover the liabilities.

Opposing the Standard Gas.

Wm. Rhinelander and Lispenard Stewart, trusees of the Rhinelander estate, have secured from Judge Barrett an injunction restraining the Standard Gas-Light Company from excavating on Second avenue, near Eighty-second street, in front of the Rhinelander estate.

A Failure in the Lace Trade. Isaac Sickel, dealer in lace goods, at 440 Broadway, made an assignment for the benefit of his creditors to Herman Cantor this afternoon. He was rated at the commercial a encies as fourth class, with fair credit, Trial of E. S. Wheeler Adjourned to Nov. 21.

HARTFORD, Conn., Nov. 16. - The hearing in the ease of E. S. Wheeler, of New Haven, charged with obtaining money from the Phoenix National Bank, of this city, by false pretenses, was resumed this morning. F. S. Bradley, President of the Yale National Bank, of New Haven, testified that his bank discounted a note of $3,461, all for Wheeler, on his representation that the J. L. Wicks Co. was solid. Heary W. Latune, a Baltimore attorney, was called to show that the L. Wicks Co. was formed from James L. Wicks, S. & Co. without payment of any money, and that 994 shares weat first to Jas. Wicks, but this entry was cancelled, and the last record on the stock book was 884 shress for Wheeler. Mr. Bird, bookkeeper for Wheeler, was put on to explain the books, the prosecution, desiring to show that numerous large accounts were for accommodation paper only. The defense offered no evidence and the case was adjourned at noon to Nov. 21, Wheeler being held under the same bonds. Bank, of this city, by false pretenses, was re

Barney Coffey and his wife lived for a long time in Portchester. Of late they have quarrelled a good deal and Barney has fallen into the bad practice of beating his wife. On Sunday he operated in this beating his wife. On Sunday he operated in this way upon her until he became quite exhausted and she was decidedly broken up. Barney was arre-ted and out in the lock-up for examination on Monday. The police thought that they had him tight, but they did not. Barney found the outside of the jall. When the officer went to get him on Monday morning he found an empty ceil and Barney's card. The card did not mention Barney's present address. The officers have been looking for Barney ever since, but without success. His trial has been indefinitely postponed.

Is Gen. Tuttle's Pension a Just One? [SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WOBLD.] WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 16. -Pension officers are investigating Gen. Tuttle's pension. Tuttle will be remembered as the demagogue who was so vociferous in denouncing the was so vociferous in denouncing the President for his battle-flag order. Tottle has been drawing a pension of $30 per month, on account of what he pronounced to be hernia, contracted by falling on a log at the battle of Fort Donelson. "It is alleged," said Col. McLean, the Acting Commissioner of Pensions, "that it is not hernia from which Tuttle suffers, and that it is not anything contracted in the war, but a congenital maiformation which he has had all his life. The case is under investigation. The medical division of the pension office has it in hand. What concussion the medical examiners may reach in the case I don't know. Meanwhile I cannot say the allegation against Tuttle is true. Nothing out a medical examination can prove that. Tuttle has made himself something of an offensive partisan in politics, which makes me more particular not to projudge him, and I would rather have my right arm cut off than do anything to injure a man on account of his politics. Of course," he added, "if we find he has been drawing a pension for a disability which did not occur he will lose his pension." for a di-ability which did not occur he will lose his
